Education helps build character, opinions, and intellect. It's not just what we are taught in school. It's also the skills we learn from our family and lessons we learn in life. People can continue to learn throughout their lives. People who receive a formal education at school will have an advantage over those who don't get an education. Some of those advantages include:

- financial stability
- more knowledge to build values
- improves confidence
- builds character
- creates opportunities
- fosters critical thinking
- provides increased knowledge
- improves interpersonal skills
- helps learn to set goals
- teaches responsibility
- builds self-control
